IMPORTANT -- All players please read --

Effective immediately, DIPLOPHOBIA and HYDROPHOBIA are combined, and DIPLOPHOBIA will come out every two weeks. Deadlines between WINTER builds/removals and SPRING moves will continue to be four weeks, as will deadlines between SPRING moves and SUMMER retreats/FALL moves. However, deadlines between FALL moves and AUTUMN retreats/WINTER builds/removals will be shortened to two weeks (this should be ample time, as it should not be necessary to conduct extensive diplomacy before builds/removals). Games of Anonymity will be two weeks between each season. Finally, in any game all players in said game may write to GM and request permanent two-week deadlines between all seasons (this is not likely to happen in any game). NOTE: With the combination of DIPLOPHOBIA and HYDROPHOBIA, only the players playing in the games contained in a particular issue will receive that issue, unless they are traders or subscribers. (Info for current traders/subbers in DPBA #48.)

Note that deadlines for games in this issue are not all the same.

Re missed moves -- a check in one of the boxes below means your moves came in, but were after the 12 p.m. (noon) deadline and were not used -- we GM'd at lunchtime just after 12 noon, and typed half the 'zine that night:

___ Day of deadline, but after noon ___ Day after deadline day.
Despite what is said inside this, we need stand-by replacement moves as follows for the next deadline: DAA (ITA): ; SAA (TFR): Anyone; SEE (TURKEY): Castora; SEE (BUL/LVP): Anyone.

May we remind the players that they can protect themselves from missed moves by:
1. Sending advance orders with current moves (particularly advance builds); 2. Shooting off to the GM a preliminary set of orders just as soon as you get the 'zine (which can be amended before the deadline if need arises); 3. Mailing duplicate sets of orders on two different days to foil the P.O.'s habit of losing Diplomacy moves; 4. Keeping a set of General Orders on file with the GM. (If you do the latter, be sure to update your G.O.'s as the situation changes; otherwise, you may find your G.O.'s telling the stand-by player to attack your ally and help your enemy!)

The Players -- CoA for Rick Brooks: P.O. Box 1057, Huntington, Ind., 46750 (no phone); phone for Von Metzke: 714-296-4813. Full roster in HYDROPHOBIA #7.

GM Note -- Possibly because of this error, and possibly because some of the players missed the short deadline, three players (Schelz, Reiter, R.Johnson) failed to send in any builds, so the deadline for W'06 builds/removals is hereby extended to July 22.

Deadline for W'06 builds/removals (Revised): Noon, Tues., July 22.

Paris -- At the request of the King of England, King Louis the Last today declared that French forces would not move into any part of the Russian Empire. Louis wished the English the best of luck in their anti-Russian venture, while wondering why the King did not move F Swe-Fin, and why the King did move F Edi-Yor. "Clearly", said the King, quoting a noted French poet, "good fences make good neighbors", and ordered two armies to the Northern frontier on maneuvers. The King sent a note to London asking that George move Den-Ska or Den-Swe in return for a French promise to move the sole Northern French fleet out of contact with the North Sea. A reply is expected next season.

I return to Scotland, however, to share in the defeat of my countrymen and of my clansmen; I disbelieve in any possibility of staving off English conquest."

Somewhere in Gladden on the streams of the mighty flowing Anduin -- Two soldiers of the 4th Benovolent Butter Brickle Brigade of His Majesty Careyva of Armor are strolling along the riverside. One of them spies a shiny gold ring in the water. Picking it up, he is possessed by a strange feeling. Instantly, he presents the ring to his commanding officer, who in turn presents it to his CO, who in turn etc. untill the Mighty Careyva himself has it. "What the hell?" ponders His Majesty. "Of course! The One! It is now mine! Hoho, dry floors, no more bathtub Rings (heh), no more telephone Rings (hoh), no more enemies, no more NOTHING!!!!!!!!!! For now I am GAMESMASTER!!! I control the One, Dommilor! Hohohohohohohohohohoho-hohohohohohohohohohohohohohohoho! First I think I'll fix my plumbing, though...."

Umbar -- I warned you, Donald Miller. Now you will suffer the consequences of your rash impertinence! With the assistance of Lucretia Borgia, the Marquis de Sade, King Pandemonium V, Larry Peory, King-Emperor Huon, and the Worm Ouroboros, the Haradrim are going to come to your house, burn all your files of science fiction and Diplomacy, seize upon your person, and convey you back to Harad where you will be made to pay for your sins. I think it will be great fun to let the Orcs tease you for a little bit and then throw you into the Cracks of Doom in Orodruin. So far as your being master of some ring or other, that, too, has been taken care of. Nyaaah!

FKF (Continued) --

GM -- Harad: You may take your hyperspace and your time-warps; your Borgia; your de Sado; your King P V; your Huon; your Worm; and your (shudder) Peery; and all of you combined can't bypass the power of the Gamesmaster's Ono Ring! And as for that "Ring" old Leaky thinks he has found -- tell him to hold it up to the light and he'll see a "secret message" from Captain Midnight....

Propaganda --

Bree (Yulemath 12 1701 (BR)) -- The Big Three of Briador met in a summit conference today to examine the world situation. ##### "All those Mordorish armies look distinctly unfriendly", opined Aragorn. ##### Following this, Lotho Sackville-Baggins, representative of Smallholders for a Democratic Shire, leaped onto a nearby stump and began a half-hour denunciation of Aragorn as an alarmist. When he was finally calmed down, the Chief resumed his discourse. ##### "Anyhow, we can not rely on a certain incompetent in Minas Tirith. And this means -- WE HAVE GOT TO SAVE THE WORLD OURSELVES!" ##### For another half-hour, the Big Three sat in stunned silence. The meeting was then adjourned to a closed session at The Prancing Pony. Consequently, we are unaware what business was transacted.

Edoras -- The Riders of the Mark seek the help of the Ents to rid the world of the likes of Saruman.

Rohan -- The Riders of the Mark are pledged to help their friends, the Hobbits of the Shire, in their quest. The Riders will also do their utmost to protect Galadriel and Lorien from the evils of Mordor.

Propaganda --

Filia -- Barbarian hordes from the Rim have entered the Hub, birthplace of civilization. The forces of the Second Empire are rallied to defeat the ghastly peril which threatens all Hyper-men. ##### The invasion has caused the Second Empire to plunge its resources into defending the Hub and into striking back at the minions of the Jackass. The war against former Emperor Misfit has been slackened for awhile; but the cataclysm of the War's End is upon us all. We call on the recent Emperor to put aside his wrath for now -- or at least until we have won the game.

Helicon propaganda deferred until next issue of DIPLOPHOBIA.

Propaganda --

Paris -- The King, Louis the Lovable, has expressed the wish that our esteemed Russian allies may be privileged to join the French armed forces in STOMPING the over-swollen sickly skulls of the Turkish infidels into the overripe, pulpy, fruity mess they so closely resemble. ##### Further, the Foreign Office expresses thanks to the Russians for annihilating the Munich army. At the previous ratio of 27 factors north of Switzerland to 21 south, our forces were dreadfully out of balance. The resultant 24-21 ratio is so much more aesthetically pleasing.

GGM Note -- After FALL, 1909, the situation was this: France had 44 units on the board, plus another one retreating; the other two powers had 43 units on the board, plus another one retreating. Therefore, if France submits a legal AUTUMN, 1909 order for his T Bal, he will have a majority of units on the board, regardless of the AUTUMN, 1909 orders of Russia, and will be the winner. (France would win, also, if both he and Russia failed to submit Autumn, 1909 orders.) ##### If France does not send a legal Autumn, 1909 order, his count is 44, vs. 44 for the other two powers, and we go into the Winter season, where, if all three powers build all the forces they are entitled to, it will be 51 units for France, and 51 for the other two powers combined. ##### Players are requested to submit Autumn, 1909 orders to the GGM. As it is highly probable that the game will be over at that time, no tabulation of Winter, 1909 supply centers will be made now.

Deadline for AUTUMN, 1909 retreats (FRA: T Bal; RUS: T Den) -- Noon, Mon., July 21. (Assuming Frank Clark is back from his trip by that time -- if not, it will be extended until August 4 -- but we expect he'll be back in time for July 21 dl.)
